

South Shore Therapies cares about the health and safety of our clients and staff.

What we are currently doing to adhere to Covid-19 guidelines and beyond:

Following CDC Guidelines

If we are alerted that a client or staff member has a positive Covid-19 test or is exposed to a positive Covid-19 individual, we follow all CDC protocols prior to being able to return to SST.

Enhanced Cleaning Protocols

In addition to our regular nightly cleaning process, we have hired designated staff members for each clinic to clean, disinfect and sterilize therapy equipment, touch surfaces, fabrics used in our therapy gyms (such as sheets, etc.) and within our feeding kitchens throughout business hours.

Air Quality

- We have added additional exhaust in our treatment rooms to facilitate air exchange
- We have installed larger duct work to increase the mixture of outside air versus recycled air
- We have installed HEPA filters where possible
- We have installed medical grade air purifiers, Sanitation Ionizers, and UV-C room cleaners throughout our facilities
- We have UV-C wands and cleaning boxes for small items

PPE

- We have transitioned to a mask-optional policy for clients and staff and encourage anyone with concerns to feel comfortable wearing a mask in our clinics
- We keep adequate supplies of PPE on hand for staff and/or clients including masks, clear masks, face shields, gloves, etc.
- We ask all clients to wash or sanitize their hands upon entering our clinics

Since opening our doors in 2004, South Shore Therapies has set the standard for treatment, and we are also committed to setting the standard for safety policies and procedures. These procedures have and will continue to help us reduce the spread of all forms of viruses, colds and other illness. We are continually committed to the safety of our clients, families, and our employees.
